RedRover Joins Unique Mobile Medical Clinic to Care for Animals in Need
FREE Medical Assistance Provided to Animals and Their Families Onsite

Harrogate, TN – RedRover, a national nonprofit animal welfare organization, will deploy to Harrogate, Tennessee from June 30 - July 1 to assist Remote Area Medical (RAM) in a special mobile medical clinic. This two-day clinic enables people who are receiving care to bring their unaltered cats and dogs with them for free spay/neuter and other veterinary services.

RedRover President and CEO Nicole Forsyth said, “We are so excited to be part of this comprehensive clinic, treating both families and pets together. Keeping families happy and healthy only helps to strengthen the human-animal bond and build a more compassionate society.”

RedRover will deploy 17 RedRover Responders volunteers and two staff members, led by RedRover Director of Field Services Beth Gammie. These volunteers are travelling from across the United States, including: North Carolina, Indiana, Illinois, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Mississippi, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and California. Their responsibilities will include: checking people in, caring for pets overnight, and helping to transport animals to and from the clinic.
