Teacher Guide

Kind News, Jr. helps students learn about animals and think critically about their responsibilities towards the wellbeing of others, while practicing skills necessary for academic success. The magazine encourages empathy and critical thinking in students and motivates students to take action to improve the lives of animals. Kind News, Jr. uses articles and short features to introduce issues affecting animals, how to understand animal behavior and how to care for pets. There are questions built into articles throughout the magazine. These questions can be used to guide whole- or small-group discussions with your students.

Happy New Year from Kind News! In this issue we meet an inspiring young woman who decided to be the change she wanted to see—and became our 2020 Kind News Humane Hero! We share some cool facts about bird migration and how to keep pets safe during the winter, and meet a resilient, special horse who overcame his past to make a difference in children’s lives.

The content and “Kind Questions” in the magazine, as well as activities in this guide, are designed to address self-awareness, social awareness, responsible decision-making, and relationship skills—four of the core competencies for social and emotional learning (SEL) identified by CASEL. COMMON CORE AND NEXT GENERATION SCIENCE STANDARDS (NGSS) ALIGNED ACTIVITIES

First grade: CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.W.1.7. Participate in shared research and writing projects (e.g., explore a number of “how-to” books on a given topic and use them to write a sequence of instructions). After reading the 2020 Kind News Humane Hero, Evelyn, review Evelyn’s tips on how one can be a hero for animals. Talk about the tips in the context of your community, for example, by mentioning your local animal shelter by name and asking students if they have been there. What else can they think of to help animals? Ask students to choose one way they would like to help, such as making their backyard into a Wildlife Habitat, and assist them in looking up information on how they can do this. Help them create a “how-to” piece with a few sentences or a paragraph with the information.

Second grade: CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.SL.2.5. Create audio recordings of stories or poems; add drawings or other visual displays to stories or recounts of experiences when appropriate to clarify ideas, thoughts, and feelings. After reading Pet Corner, “It’s Cold Outside!”, review with students the tips for keeping pets warm and safe during the winter. As a class, create a poem or a mnemonic device to remember the three tips. Examples:

• “To keep them warm and cozy: wipe the salt from their ‘pawsies.’”
• “If you see a pet that is cold, make sure someone is told!”
• “Done with playtime? Bring ‘em inside!”

If time allows, students can present their tips to another class as a Public Service Announcement, or create mini-posters for each tip.

Stranger in the Woods
Written by Carl R. Sams and Jean Stoick
Recommended for ages 4 to 8

A New York Times #1 Best-Seller, Stranger in the Woods is a photographic fantasy that tells how the furry and feathered friends of the forest respond to a mysterious visitor. On the national and New York Times best-seller lists during the winter for five consecutive years, Stranger in the Woods has warmed the hearts of children ages 1 to 100.

Our mystery critter is the deer.
There are more than 60 species of deer world-wide, living on all continents except Antarctica. Deer live in many different kinds of habitats, including mountains, deciduous forests, and rainforests. They are part of the Cervidae family, which includes elk, moose, and reindeer. Deer are herbivores and subsist on a diet of plants, such as grass, bark, trees, and berries.

Deer often come into conflict with humans. Much of this conflict occurs because their natural habitat has been reduced due to human actions. People are concerned that deer eat their gardens, pose a risk to drivers, and are responsible for the spread of Lyme disease. Communities often feel that killing deer is the answer to reducing populations and solving these problems, but there is no correlation between the mass killing of deer and the reduction of deer-human conflict. Other options, such as immuncontraception, or administering birth control to deer, are being studied and tested as more humane ways to control deer population.

What can you do to help deer? Consider using humane ways to keep them out of your garden, such as planting plants that are unappealing to them, or putting up deer fences or netting. Be careful when driving, especially during dawn or dusk, when deer are most active. Help others in your community understand why deer are in our neighborhoods in the first place, and why mass killing of deer doesn’t work. For more information, visit humanesociety.org/deer.
