Local Humane Hero Featured in National Kind News Magazine for Kids

Palm Harbor, FL (January 13, 2021) - Young local humane hero, Austin Testa, is featured in the January/February 2021 edition of Kind News magazine, a children's magazine published by RedRover, a national animal welfare nonprofit.

At the young age of just six years old, Austin founded the 501c3 nonprofit organization "Every Bark Counts," to help animals in need. He was first inspired to help when he went to the store to buy LEGO toys and walked past a shelf of fleece blankets. The blankets made him think of shelter dogs in outdoor cages during winter, which upset him, so he told his mom he wanted to help.

"Every Bark Counts because animals can't speak for themselves," said Austin. "We are the voice for the voiceless and all animals depend on us to protect them and be their voice. When we work together we do make a difference for the voiceless. Let's work together and help your local shelters and rescues. Because of them, the animals get a second chance at life and love."

Since starting his nonprofit six years ago, Austin has raised more than $85,000 for supplies and care for thousands of animals, and even saved a pregnant horse from the slaughterhouse. He raises money through t-shirt sales, sponsorships and by selling cotton candy and popcorn at local festivals. With these funds, he buys food and supplies for animals at shelters across the nation. The funds are also used to supplement emergency veterinary care for animals in need.

"We are thrilled to highlight the incredible work that Austin has done to help so many animals across the country," said RedRover President and CEO Nicole Forsyth. "We hope his work inspires other young people to help the less fortunate, including furry and feathered friends, and to continue to spread kindness."

Kind News uses articles and short features to highlight issues affecting animals, and provides tips for understanding animal behavior and caring for pets. Each issue features a young Humane Hero, game or activity, MUTTS comic strip, Critter Clues, and much more.
