

Helping kids learn how to be kind to animals has never been more fun!

Kind News, an 8-page magazine for kids, is available in two reading levels and is aligned with Common Core standards, Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS), and the core competencies for social and emotional learning identified by CASEL, the Collaborative for Academic, Social, and Emotional Learning.

Kind News, Jr. grades K-2

Colorful photos, puzzles, fun activities and age-appropriate stories help kids, grades K-2, learn about animals and explore what it means to be kind, while sparking curiosity and a love of reading.

Kind News grades 3-6

Colorful photos, fun activities, riddles and age-appropriate stories and comics help kids, grades 3-6, understand animal behavior, issues affecting animals, how to care for pets, and how to take action to improve the lives of animals, while sparking curiosity and a love of reading.

TESTIMONIALS

"My kindergarten students' eyes light up when we receive Kind News in the classroom. They are so excited to learn about animals, engage in fun games, and see real pictures."

-Kimberly Craig, Kindergarten teacher,
Fort Wayne, IN

"I love Kind News. I've been buying subscriptions for local schools and libraries for the last 20 years. It's a wonderful tool that teaches children empathy and compassion for all creatures, a much needed resource in today's world."

-Tracy Bentley, Kind News sponsor,
Midway, KY

"My third grade students love using Kind News during our Language Arts centers. We love having an engaging nonfiction magazine that piques the interests of our students."

-Third-grade teacher, Haymarket, VA
